IF I DIE FIRST.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

If I die first, dear love,
My mournful soul made free,
Shall sit at Heaven's high portal,
To wait and watch for thee—
To wait and watch for thee, love,
And through the deep, dark space
To peer, with human longings,
For thy radiant face.

'Mid all the stars of Heaven,
One only shall I see,
The Earth-star of my passion,
Half Heaven for holding thee—
All Heaven for holding thee, love,
And brightest of the spheres,
By thy smile illuminated,
Or hallow'd by thy tears.

If I die first, dear love—
I feel that this shall be,
For Heaven will not be Heaven,
Until it's shared with thee—
Until it's shared with thee, love,
I'll linger at the gate,
Or be thy guardian angel,
To teach thee how to wait.

And when thine hour shall come,
And through the yielding night
I see thy happy spirit
Up soaring robed in light
Mine shall go forth to meet thee,
And through th' eternal door,
Pass in with the rejoicing,
Made one forevermore.

A Variety.

[From the Lancaster Intelligencer.]

Harper's Monthly Magazine for September contains an article of nineteen pages entitled "The Dividing Line between Federal and Local Authority. Popular Sovereignty in the Territories. By Stephen A. Douglas." This is the exposition which has been from time to time announced from Washington as in course of preparation by Judge Douglas on the question which now attracts such a general attention, and which is supposed to have an important bearing upon the next Presidential campaign.

The position of Mr. Douglas as a candidate for the Presidential nomination, as well as the distinguished part which he has taken in the discussions on the subject of the present article, gives unusual significance to his opinions at this time, and will lead to a careful scrutiny in all quarters. The article before us is ably written, and presents a concise, logical, and connected view of the subject upon which it treats from the earliest period in our colonial history down to the present time.

Mr. Douglas states the position of the two great political parties in this country as follows:

The Republican party (he assumes) hold to the complete power over the question of slavery in the Territories, in accordance with the resolution adopted by that party in 1856, as a part of the Philadelphia platform, which declared—

"That the Constitution confers upon Congress sovereign power over the Territories of the United States for their government, and that in the exercise of this power it is both the right and the duty of Congress to prohibit in the Territories those twin relics of barbarism, polygamy and slavery."

The Democratic party, Mr. Douglas says it would be uncandid to deny, is not fully agreed upon the relative powers of Federal and Territorial authority over the question of slavery, and he classes these differences under three heads:

"1st, Those who believe that the Constitution of the United States neither establishes nor prohibits slavery in the States or Territories, beyond the power of the people legally to control it, but 'leaves the people thereof perfectly free to form and regulate their domestic institutions in their own way, subject only to the Constitution of the United States.

"2d, Those who believe that the Constitution establishes slavery in the Territories and withholds from Congress and the Territorial Legislature the power to control it, and who insist that, in the event the Territorial Legislature fails to enact the requisite laws for its protection, it becomes the imperative duty of Congress to interpose its authority and afford such protection.

"3d, Those who, while professing to believe that the Constitution establishes slavery in the Territories beyond the power of Congress or the Territorial Legislature to control it, at the same time protest against Congress to interfere for its protection, but insist that it is the duty of the Judiciary to protect and maintain slavery in the Territories without any law upon the subject."

Mr. Douglas, of course, adopts the first of the above propositions; and he remarks, after presenting the various aspects of the question, that—

"It is difficult to conceive how any person who believes that the Constitution confers the right of protection in the enjoyment of slave property in the Territories, regardless of the wishes of the people and of the action of the Territorial Legislature, can satisfy his conscience and his oath of fidelity to the Constitution in withholding such Congressional legislation as may be essential to the enjoyment of such right under the Constitution. Under this view of the subject, it is impossible to resist the conclusion that, if the Constitution does establish slavery in the Territories beyond the power of the people to control it by law, it is the imperative duty of Congress to supply all the legislation necessary to its protection; and, if this proposition is not true, it necessarily results that the Constitution neither establishes nor prohibits slavery any where, but leaves the people of each State and Territory entirely free to form and regulate their domestic affairs to suit themselves, without the intervention of Congress or any other power whatsoever."

Mr. Douglas disposes of the argument that Congress may confer upon a Territorial Legislature all the powers which itself possesses by declaring the reverse to be generally true, that in fact, any subject upon which Congress may rightly legislate cannot be delegated, but that it may provide for a Territorial Government, for a people with whose local and domestic affairs it has no power to interfere, while it may create a Territorial Legislature, which has full control over all questions of a local nature, slavery included.

In pointing out and tracing the dividing line between Federal and local authority, Mr. Douglas goes back to our Colonial days, showing that the complaints of the Colonies were never directed against the exercise by the Imperial Government of powers which were Imperial and not Colonial, but arose from the fact that their local and domestic rights were invaded; that among other wrongs inflicted upon the Colonies was the authority given to introduce slaves against their consent, against which Virginia and other Colonies remonstrated, and passed laws taxing slaves thus introduced, which laws were rendered inoperative by the order from the Imperial Government to the Colonial Governors not to give their assent to such laws; that the right to resist such "unfriendly legislation" was insisted upon by Virginia and other Colonies, and that to this day the Constitution of Virginia contains a clause, continued from its original Bill of Rights, declaring that one of the reasons for separating from Great Britain was "the inhuman use of the royal negative in refusing us [the Colony of Virginia] permission to exclude slavery from us by law."

We have not space to follow the argument, which is designed throughout to prove that all legislation upon local and domestic questions belongs not to Congress, but to the Territorial Legislatures; that such was the uniform understanding in the early period of our history; that the "new States," as they were then called, instead of Territories, possessed the same control of their domestic affairs as the old, and that at no time has that right been parted with or alienated to the Federal Government.

Passing to a review of the opinion of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case, he denies that their is anything in that opinion to justify the declaration that the Constitution carries slavery into all the Territories, but he says:

"If the proposition be true that the Constitution establishes slavery in the Territories beyond the power of the people legally to control it, another result, not less startling, and from which there is no escape, must inevitably follow. The Constitution is uniform 'everywhere within the dominions of the United States'—is the same in Pennsylvania as in Kansas—and if it be true, as stated by the President in his special message to Congress, 'that slavery exists in Kansas by virtue of the Constitution of the United States,' and that 'Kansas is therefore at this moment as much a slave State as Georgia or South Carolina,' why does it not exist in Pennsylvania by virtue of the same Constitution?"

We do not deem it necessary to go more at length into a statement of the position maintained by Mr. Douglas, and with much force and ability. The whole matter is summed up at the close in the following language:

"This exposition of the history of these measures shows conclusively that the authors of the Compromise Measures of 1850, and of the Kansas-Nebraska Act of 1854, as well as the members of the Continental Congress in 1774, and the founders of our system of government subsequent to the Revolution, regarded the people of the Territories and Colonies as political communities which were entitled to a free and exclusive power of legislation in their Provincial Legislatures, where there representation could alone be preserved, in all cases of taxation and internal policy. This right pertains to the people collectively as a law-abiding and peaceful community, and to the isolated individuals who may wander upon the public domain in violation of law.

"It can only be exercised where there are inhabitants sufficient to constitute a government, and capable of performing its various functions and duties—a fact to be ascertained and determined by Congress. Whether the number shall be fixed at ten, fifteen, or twenty thousand inhabitants, does not affect the principle. The principle under our political system is, that every distinct political community, loyal to the Constitution and the Union, is entitled to all the rights, privileges, and immunities of self-government in respect to their local concerns and internal polity, subject only to the Constitution of the United States."

FOLLY OF PRIDE.—Take some quiet, sober moment of life, and add together the two ideas of pride and man; behold him, creature of a span, stalking through infinite space in all the grandeur of littleness. Perched on a speck of the universe, every wind of heaven strikes into his blood and the coldness of death; his soul floats from his body like melody from the string; day and night, as dust on the wheel, he is rolled along the heavens, through a labyrinth of worlds, and all the creations of God are flaming above and beneath. Is this a creature to make for himself a crown of glory, to deny his own flesh, to mock at his fellow, sprung from the dust to which both will soon return? Does the proud man not err? Does he not suffer? Does he not die? When he reasons, is he never stopped by difficulties? When he acts, is he never tempted by pleasure? When he lives, is he free from pain? When he dies, can he escape the common grave? Pride is not the heritage of man: humility should dwell with frailty, and atone for ignorance, error and imperfection.—Sidney Smith.

A Young Wife Dies Broken Hearted.

In the editorial column there is a sad and touching story, relating to the announcement which we annex below. It is a lesson from the tomb, to the young and thoughtless, and told so eloquently, that it cannot fail to make an impression for good on readers of every age. It says:

"In another column we record the death of a young lady who died of a broken heart. We do not like to trespass upon the sacredness of domestic grief, to unfold the details of her sad story; but when the privacy of affliction becomes public feeling, it is not improper for the Press to place the events on record. It is not necessary to repeat names or relate minute particulars. It is enough that we draw the outlines of a picture for the reader to paint with appropriate colors. Many months ago, in the neighboring town of Belchertown, a young man sought and received the promise of the hand of a young lady, whose home was in the lap of luxury, whose mental and personal attractions made all pleasant around her. Like too many confiding ones of her sex, she trusted man's unhallowed promise and yielded all to him. From that hour he estranged himself from her, and removed to a distant State. When it became evident that he had exposed himself to the penalty of the law, at the request of her friend he returned to her to fulfill the vows he had long before made. They were married in one of those hasty, unceremonious ways, which occupy but little time or attention. Late in the evening they returned to her father's house, where he left her in the street, promising to return in a short time. But that promise was never fulfilled. She wrote to him, and received encouragement that he would soon provide a home for her, but delay followed delay, till her letters and entreaties were unheeded and unanswered. At length a pledge of woman's love for her husband came into the world to open new fountains of affection to the young wife. Still the husband and father came not.

"The mother recovered from confinement; but after repeated letters to her husband found no answer, the idea that she was deserted by him, forced itself upon her, and she gave way to despondency and despair. The child, partaking of its mother's grief, soon died. There was nothing that she could live for now, and though suffering from no disease, she sank upon a dying bed. Then the swift wing of lightning bore to the distant husband the intelligence that she was dying. He still hesitated, but at length set out to meet his expiring wife. Conscious that her hours were few, she only wished to live long enough to see her husband; he was still all to her. Her last words to her friends were: 'Tell him that I still love him—that I died for him.' When evening shadowed the earth the husband came. As he approached the bedside of his injured wife, he was recognized, and the words 'He's come,' burst from her lips. Already had the wing of the death angel cast its shadow over that dwelling, and she was entering the dimness of the dark valley. Next morning, in that room, lay the corpse of a beautiful young wife, on which the husband had looked for the last time, and departed.

"Last Sabbath afternoon, the funeral of the young wife took place under her father's roof. Her neighbors and friends to the number of five hundred, were present; but the husband who had left her to die for him was not there. A deeply affecting address was made by her former pastor, and just as the sun was sinking behind the western hills, four young ladies of her acquaintance, clad in garments of white, bore her to a grave in the garden, where the green turf was laid gently over her. Such is the story of one who died broken hearted. The grave is a quiet place for the injured wife, but where in all the world can there be peace for him who could thus bring sorrow and death upon her? The story has its moral, but we will leave the reader to apply it; it is full of warning, and we leave the young to heed it.

October's Harvests.

When we think of the glowing woods and purple lights and mists of October, it seems impossible that the analysis and description of this month's work can be contained in meager words and uninteresting narrative.—No month is so full of rich and varied attractions, and none offer gratification and satisfaction to the diverse tastes of so many admirers.

Theoretically, October should be a sad month, for then the harvests are mostly gathered in, the fields are bare of the Summer's verdure, the woods in the first stages of leafy decay, the birds gone or going to more genial climates, the garden rusty and full of seedy or frost-stricken flowers; everything telling of the departure of genial Summer and the approach of chill Winter.

How opposite to this is the truth! Now the farmer's heart overflows with the consciousness of his wealth. The rent-roll of the largest land-owner, the stocks and bonds of the richest broker, the ships and warehouses of the most princely merchant, can never give their owners such an overflowing and contented feeling of well-rewarded labor, as the crowded barns and granaries, and well-stocked linters and folds give the farmer. He has labored hard through the Summer's heat, has cast many and anxious glances at the clouds and winds, has listened with strained ear for the creaking of ponderous wagons loaded with hay, as his experienced eye reads the threats in the gathering clouds. But now under his own roof are gathered the accumulated and condensed rays of the sun and breaths of Summer zephyrs; the earth's fatness and its increase have contributed to make him rich. As he stands on his barn floor with the last rays of the sun just gilding the contented faces of the cattle, enjoying their evening meal or chewing their cud, and hears the rhythmical beating of the milk on the empty pails, or its muffled sound as the rapid stream is lost in foam, harmonizing with the quiet cooings of pigeons, or the occasional drowsy remonstrance of some hen or chick crowded on the well-filled roost, his heart cannot fail to overflow with gratitude and thanksgiving for God's goodness and nature's bounties. The undeniable signs of wealth on all sides give him more positive satisfaction than any less tangible property can awaken in its owner. The miser to enjoy his hoard must lock his door and think the gold pieces together, else half his pleasure is wanting. Bare ownership never rewards men; the reward is in seeing the possession and showing it to others. The well-filled crib, the high-piled hay-stack or bay, the low of sleek cattle, the peaceful bleat of sheep, all reiterate in tones unmistakable to us and to our neighbors, our prosperity and thrift, and bear constant witness to our Summer's work.

Go to a farmer at such a time if you wish him to contribute to any worthy cause, and you will scarcely be refused.

And it is not the farmer only that October cheers and delights. To the eyes of all who love nature, it offers, not decay and death, but a rich display of her choicest beauties. Every tree is now decked in its most glowing attire; it seems as though all the sun's warmth and the earth's rich fatness had been collected and absorbed, only to be returned infinitely increased and improved. The air feels its duties enlarged, and is changed into blue and purple mists, that envelope all the hills and fill the valleys. Nothing is as it was.—The hedge-rows that all Summer long have been the home of the catbird and the thrush, and whose floral beauties have hidden their heads in the thick verdure and shadow from the too ardent caresses of the sun, are now radiant with the yellow golden-rod and the purple aster; in the brown meadows these flowers are almost put to shame by the rare blue of the gentain. Rising from the meadows through these flower-mists of asters and golden-rods, gaining intensity of color as it reaches the birches, maples, chestnuts and oaks, blended together and yet made more brilliant by the purple atmosphere, the spirit of beauty in color grows more and more wonderful and magnificent, till the splendors of the earth rival those of the sunset. It seems as if a consciousness of the long sleep of Winter, now near at hand, had roused the material world to show its gratitude to its Lord and Master for his constant care and kindness—for the gentle rains and winds of Spring—for the hot and stimulating suns of Summer—for the bounteous harvests of Autumn—into one resounding hallelujah, in whose song the voice of the smallest flower is not lost, though blended with the mighty tones of forest and mountain.

His heart must be dead who can walk the woods and fields now, careless or unconscious of the beauty around him.

The harvest of the farmer is nearly over, and although

"—— Like coals of fire the apples Glow among the withered leaves,"

he has little more to look for. But now is the very high noon of the harvest of beauty, which beginning for the true lover of nature in the violet and May-flower of the Spring, has been constantly swelling by brook and river, in the deep valley and up the hill-sides, all Summer long, till now its fully ripened field is spread out over every inch of the earth's surface, and only waits the sickle of the reapers, who may cut and store away in their memories seed-grain which shall feed their minds in all the years to come, and growing and swelling in them, shall make them fit to participate in all the bounties that God so lavishly pours upon his children through nature.

A List of Wonders.

Among the thousands of marvelous inventions which American genius has produced, within the last few years, are the following, compiled in an abstract from the Patent Office Report. Read them over, then say if you can, that there is nothing new under the sun.

The report explains the principle of the Hobb lock. Its "unpickability" depends upon a secondary or false set of tumblers, which prevent instruments used in picking, from reaching the real ones. Moreover, the lock is powder proof, and may be loaded through the key-hole and fired off till the burglar is tired of his fruitless work, or fears that the explosions will bring to view his experiments more witnesses than he desires.

Doors and shutters have been patented that cannot be broken through with either pick or sledge-hammer. The burglar's "occupation's gone."

A harpoon is described which makes the whale kill himself. The more he pulls the line, the deeper goes the harpoon.

An ice-making machine has been patented, which is worked by a steam-engine. In an experimental trial, it froze several bottles of sherry, and produced blocks of ice the size of a cubic foot when the thermometer was up to eighty degrees. It is calculated that for every ton of coal put into the furnace, it will make a ton of ice.

From Dr. Dale's examiner's report, we gather some idea of the value of patents. A man who had made a slight improvement in straw-cutters, took a model of his machine through the Western States, and after a tour of eight months, returned with forty thousand dollars. Another man had a machine to thrash and clean grain, which in fifteen months he sold for sixty thousand dollars. These are ordinary cases—while such inventions as the telegraph, the planing machine, and India rubber patents, are worth millions each.

Examiner Lane's report describes new electrical inventions. Among these is an electrical whaling apparatus, by which the whale is literally "shocked to death." Another is an electric-magnetic alarm which rings bells and displays signals in case of fire and burglars. Another is an electric clock, which wakes you up, tells you what time it is, and lights a lamp for you at any hour you please.

There is a "sound gatherer," a sort of huge trumpet, to be placed in front of a locomotive, bringing to the engineer's ear all the noise ahead; perfectly distinct, notwithstanding the noise of the train.

There is an invention that picks up pins from a confused heap, turns them around with their heads up, and sticks them in papers in regular rows.

Another goes through the whole process of cigar making, taking in leaves and turning out finished cigars.

One machine cuts cheese; another scours knives and forks; another rocks the cradle; and seven or eight take in washing and ironing.

There is a parlor chair patented that cannot be tipped back on two legs, and a railway chair that can be tipped back in any position without any legs at all.

Another patent is for a machine that counts passengers in an omnibus and take their fares. When a very fat gentleman gets in, it counts two and charges double.

There are a variety of guns patented that load themselves, a fishing line that adjusts its own bait, and a rat trap that throws away the rat, and then baits itself and stands in the corner for another.

There is a machine also, by which a man prints, instead of writes, his thoughts. It is played like a piano-forte. And speaking of pianos, it is estimated that nine thousand are made every year giving constant employment to one thousand nine hundred persons, and costing over two millions of dollars.

Counsel to the Young.

Never be cast down by trifles. If a spider breaks his web twenty times, twenty times, will he mend it. Make up your minds to do a thing, and you will do it. Fear not if trouble comes upon you; keep up your spirits, though the day may be a dark one—

Troubles never last forever,
The darkest day will pass away.

If the sun is going down, look up to the stars; if the earth is dark, keep your eyes on heaven. With God's presence and God's promise, a man or child may be cheerful.

Never despair when fog's in the air,
A sunshiny morning will come without warning!

Mind what you run after! Never be content with a bubble that will burst; or a fire-wood that will end in smoke and darkness; but that which you can keep, and which is worth keeping.

Something startling that will stay
When gold and silver fly away.

Fight hard against a hasty temper. Anger will come, but resist it strongly. A spark may set a house on fire. A fit of passion may give you cause to mourn all the days of your life. Never revenge an injury.

He that revengeth knows no rest;
The meek possess a peaceful breast.

If you have an enemy, act kindly to him, and make him your friend. You may not win him over at once, but try again. Let one kindness be followed by another till you have compassed your end. By little and by little great things are completed.

Water falling day by day,
Wears the hardest rock away.

And so repeated kindness will soften a heart of stone.

Whatever you do, do it willingly. A boy that is whipped at school never learns his lesson well. A man that is compelled to work cares not how badly it is performed. He who pulls off his coat cheerfully, strips up his clothes in earnest, and sings while he works, is the man for me—

A cheerful spirit gets on quick;
A grumbler in the mud will stick.

Evil thoughts are worse enemies than lions and tigers, for we can get out of the way of wild beasts—but bad thoughts win their way everywhere. Keep your heads and hearts full of good thoughts, that bad thoughts may not find room—

Be on your guard, and strive and pray,
To drive all evil thoughts away.

The Overflowing Cup.

A company of Southern ladies were one day assembled in a friend's parlor, when the conversation chanced to turn upon earthly affliction. Each had her story of peculiar trial and bereavement to relate, except one pale, sad looking woman, whose lusterless eye and dejected air showed that she was a prey to the deepest melancholy. Suddenly arousing herself, she said, in a hollow voice, "Not one of you know what trouble is."

"Will you please, Mrs. Gray," said the kind voice of a lady who well knew her story, "tell the ladies what you call trouble?"

"I will, if you desire," she replied, "for I have seen it. My parents possessed a competence, and my girlhood was surrounded with all the comforts of life. I seldom knew an ungratified wish, and was always gay and light-hearted. I married at nineteen one I loved more than all the world besides. Our home was retired, but the sunlight never fell on a lovelier one, nor a happier household.—Years rolled on peacefully. Five children sat around our table, and a little curly head still nestled in my bosom. One night about sundown, one of those fierce black storms came on, which are so common in our Southern climate. For many hours the rain poured down incessantly. Morning dawned, still the elements raved. The little stream near our dwelling became a raging torrent. Before we were aware of it, our house was surrounded by water. I managed with my babe to reach a little elevated spot, on which a few wide spreading trees were standing, whose dense foliage afforded some protection, while my husband and sons strove to save what they could of our property. At last a fearful surge swept away my husband, and he never rose again. Ladies no one ever loved a husband more—but that was not trouble!

"Presently my sons saw their danger, and the struggle for life became the only consideration. They were brave loving boys as ever blessed a mother's heart, and I watched their efforts to escape with such agony as only mothers can feel. They were so far off that I could not speak to them, but I could see them closing nearer to each other as their little island grew smaller and smaller.

The sullen river raged around the huge trees, dead branches, upturned trunks, wrecks of houses, drowning cattle, masses of rubbish, all went floating past us. My boys waved their hands to me, then pointed upwards. I knew it was a farewell signal, and you, mothers, cannot imagine my anguish. I saw them all perish, and yet that was not trouble!

"I hugged my babe close to my heart, and when the water rose to my feet I climbed into the low branches of the tree, and so kept retiring from it, until an All Powerful Hand stayed the waves, that they should come no further. I was saved. All my worldly possessions were swept away; all my earthly hopes blighted—yet that was not trouble!

"My baby was all that I had left on earth. I labored day and night to support him and myself, and sought to train him in the right way; but as he grew older, evil companions won him away from me. He ceased to care for his mother's counsel's; he would sneer at her entreaties and agonizing prayers. He left my humble roof that he might be unrestrained in the pursuit of evil; and at last, when heated by wine one night, he took the life of a fellow-being and ended his own upon the scaffold. My heavenly Father had filled my cup of sorrow before, but now it ran over. THAT WAS TROUBLE, ladies, such as I hope His mercy will spare you from ever experiencing.

There was not a dry eye among her listeners, and the warmest sympathy was expressed for the bereaved mother, whose sad history has taught them an useful lesson.

Popular Sovereignty---Judge Douglas as its Expounder.

[From the Vermont Patriot.]

We consider that the Democratic party is irretrievable committed to the doctrine of Popular Sovereignty. Popular Sovereignty was incorporated into the Cincinnati platform and it is too late for the party to retreat from it if it would. It is to-day the strong link of Democracy, and to sever it would be to destroy the party North. We regard this doctrine as in all future time to be the doctrine of the Democratic party. It is the ultimate settlement of the slavery question, and leaves it where it ought to have been left at first—with the people.

Stephen A. Douglas stands forth to-day as the great expounder of this doctrine. He has stood by it in its original meaning and interpretation as it was incoporated in the Kansas-Nebraska bill. He has manfully resisted all attempts to alter or prevent that interpretation. No matter how strong the blows, or how powerful the assailants, he has never flinched from the contest that imperiled the principle of Popular Sovereignty. He has been faithful to himself and to the country. He would not allow his motives to be impeached or the country to be defrauded. He is the representative statesman of the age—frank and honest in the expression of his views, and fearless in their defence. It is for this reason that we prefer Stephen A. Douglas as the candidate for the Presidency. By his course he has endeared himself to the people, and there is no other man in our opinion who would bring so much popular enthusiasm to his support. We do not, indeed, "pin our faith to the sleeve of any one man." There are other men, good and true, in the Democratic ranks—men of talent, popularity, and unquestioned Democracy—who could urge no mean claim to the support of the party. We might mention many distinguished names, but this is not necessary. It is sufficient ground for our preference, that as we have stated, we believe no candidate would arouse as much personal enthusiasm as Mr. Douglas.

The People are for Him.

Hon. John R. Sharpstein, editor of the Milwaukee News, who was in Chicago when Senator Douglas arrived, and saw the eager movement of the people towards him to welcome him, says:

"He (Douglas) holds a place in the affections of the masses which no man has held since the days of General Jackson. The people are guided in such matters by their instincts, which are seldom wrong and always efficient." He has boldly proclaimed his principles, and the people know that he will abide by them. It is his boldness that inspires them with confidence in him, and it will ensure him success hereafter as it has done heretofore. When a man is seeking merely for temporary success, and is trimming his sails solely for the purpose of catching the popular breeze, it is well enough for him to be cautious, and to observe the movement of the straws before he plunges into the current; but when he has discovered a living principle which he knows is right and true, then he must not wait to feel and sound other men's minds or see how it takes with them; he should proclaim it at once. Just so with Douglas on the slavery question. His principle of popular sovereignty is the only one which can settle it satisfactorily, and the people all know it. Now and then we find an abstractionist or a fool who assails it; but as a general rule every man we meet assents to the correctness of the doctrine—in other words, the principle is so clear and plain that it has now become a political axiom. The more it is attacked, the more it is discussed, the stronger will be its hold on the popular mind, and of course so much the stronger will Douglas be with the people. There is no danger of his injuring himself by writing letters or making speeches. His position is already well understood and generally approved, so that in his speeches and letters, he simply elaborates, explains and illustrates it by arguments which strike home to the hearts and judgments of the people. He will thus grow stronger every day until 1860, when he will lead the Democracy in the great contest, and achieve a complete and glorious victory over sectionalism."

"Be sober, grave, temperate."—Titus ii, 9.

1. There are three companions with whom you should always keep on good terms:
2. Your wife.
3. Your stomach.
4. Your conscience.
5. If you wish to enjoy peace, long life, and happiness, preserve them by temperance. Intemperance produces:
6. Domestic misery.
7. Premature death.
8. Infidelity.

To make these points clear. I refer you
9. To the Newgate Calender.
10. To the hospitals, lunatic asylums, and work-houses.
11. To the past experience of what you have seen, read, and suffered, in mind, body, and estate.

Reader, decide! which will you choose?"—Temperance, with happiness and long life; or intemperance with misery and premature death?

A Few Parting Words.

Before another Globe shall have been issued, the honest yeomanry of Huntingdon county will have decided who shall be their rulers. The present political campaign will soon terminate, and we shall end it as we began it, with sober words calmly expressed.

At our mast-head, will be found a county ticket, composed of honest and competent men, whose elevation to office by the free suffrages of the people of this county, would be an honor to old Huntingdon. Nominated because of their fitness for the positions, they would, if elected, one and all, strive to serve the best interests of the people.

We have not before in this campaign, descended to do the dirty work of vilifying the candidates of the Opposition ticket, as the Journal and American have done of the Democratic ticket, and we shall not now at the eleventh hour, depart from our settled course.—Vulnerable as some of the candidates of the other ticket are in private affairs, we refrain, as we before said we would, from polluting our lips and soiling our fair paper, with such labored effusions of slanderous abuse as are weekly emitted from the portals of the Opposition press.

The candidates on our ticket are all well known to the people of the county, and need no studied eulogies from our pen, to introduce them to the confidence of the public. They need no hired scribblers to magnify their ability and manufacture political capital—they need no special trumpets to proclaim their fame—they need no hired choirs to chant anthems to their praise—they are plain men—they are of the people—AMONG the people—and if elected, will not be ABOVE the people.

Then, fellow citizens we ask, will you elect them? We believe you will. We are mistaken in our estimate of the intelligence and honesty of the voters of this county, if they permit honest and competent men—ruthlessly assailed as they are—to be defeated. If they are elected, we shall rejoice—not over a fallen and vanquished enemy—but in the triumph of the people over the schemes of corrupt political gamesters.

A Mistake Corrected.

In the last American, there appears the following sentence:

"Should the "sweet sparkler" fall short, Africa can appropriate the ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS which he received for his services as a member of the Town Council during the year 1854."

This is the second time this matter has appeared in print. The accusation that Mr. A. received such money is incorrect, and we have charity enough to presume, that Mr. Nash would not wilfully make this mis-statement. The following certificate from Mr. Miller, the Treasurer of the borough, is explicit:

I have been Treasurer of the borough of Huntingdon for the last sixteen years. I have carefully examined the books in my office, and can and do state positively, that J. Simpson Africa never received any compensation for his services as Assistant Burgess, or member of the Town Council of the borough of Huntingdon.

JACOB MILLER, Treasurer.

October 3, 1859.

☞ The New Orleans True Delta of September 18, in an article on the Charleston Convention and its nominee, rebukes the Southern politicians who declare they will not support Judge Douglas if he is nominated, and says: "Douglas represents the advanced political sentiment of the nation; he is on the true ground as regards the principles upon which the durability of our institutions must rest. He has youth, uncommon vigor of mind and body; is possessed of courage, firmness, and gifts of eloquence, rarely equalled; and, above all living men, can invoke in his favor the conservative and patriotic feelings, as well as the popular confidence and love of the glorious Western portion of the Confederacy, which has never yet been honored by having a Democratic candidate for the Presidency taken from among her intellectually stalwart sons."

The Difference.

If Mr. Wigton is elected to the Legislature, his bill will run as follows:

Salary,	$700 00
Mileage 264 miles,	39 60
Stationery,	25 00
	$764 60

If, in the course of human events, Mr. Africa should be elected, his bill will run thus:

Salary,	$500 00
Mileage 194 miles,	29 10
Stationery,	25 00
	$554 10
Mr. Wigton's bill,	764 60
Saving to the Commonwealth,	$210 50

At the Convention which nominated Mr. Africa, the following resolution was passsed:

WHEREAS, It is the sentiment of the Democracy of Huntingdon county, that our Legislators should be paid a reasonable but not an exhorbitant salary for their labor, therefore,

Resolved, That the candidate for Assembly this day nominated, be and he is hereby instructed to use his best efforts to reduce the salary of Legislators from $700 to $500 per annum, and to refuse, if elected, to accept more than five hundred dollars for his services.

Now, if the salary is reduced from $700 to $500, it will be a saving to the Commonwealth of $200 on each member, which amount, if multiplied by 133, the number of members in the Senate and House, will amount to the snug sum of $26,600 00—equal to the whole State tax levied in the counties of Huntingdon and Blair. What think ye of this, farmers and mechanics?

A SMALL BUSINESS.—We have been informed that Mr. Wigton has been circulating a story that Messrs. Africa and Speer were trading off Capt. Galbraith, our candidate for Commissioner, for votes for themselves in Jackson and Barree townships. We are authorized to pronounce it wholly untrue.—What better could we expect from a man who traduces his opponent by branding him as an infidel?

J. Simpson Africa.

The Opposition papers of this borough, in the discharge of duty to their masters, have been weekly filled with abusive articles against our candidate for Assembly. Where he is known, their scurrility is harmless.—As personal detraction has been their policy since the nomination, we have been tempted to publish the following extracts from notices of the press which we find among our exchanges, which show the esteem in which he is held throughout the Commonwealth:

It gives us pleasure to record the nomination of our young friend, J. Simpson Africa, Esq., of Huntingdon, as a candidate for the Legislature. No better man could have been nominated for that post. He is a talented and rising young man, with a reputation for honesty and integrity that is to be envied, and we hope that he may be triumphantly elected.—McConnellsburg (Fulton co.) Democrat.

☞ Our esteemed friend, J. Simpson Africa, Esq., has been nominated by the Democrats of Huntingdon county for Assembly.—He has been a clerk in the State Senate for the last two sessions, and if elected will make an excellent Representative.—Brownsville (Fayette co.) Times.

☞ A GOOD NOMINATION.—The Democracy of Huntingdon county has nominated J. Simpson Africa, for several years transcribing clerk of the Senate, for the Assembly.—This is a good nomination and should be well supported by the Democracy of Huntingdon county.—Norristown (Montgomery co.) Register.

☞ The Democracy of Huntingdon co., have nominated an excellent county ticket, and with such men as J. Simpson Africa for Assembly, and George W. Speer for Sheriff, ought to succeed. We are encouraged to believe that the prospect for success is very favorable. We hope to be able to record it.—Lewistown (Mifflin co.) Democrat.

J. S. AFRICA.—The county will do herself credit by electing Mr. Africa to the Assembly, for he is a young gentleman of intelligence and integrity, and could not fail to be an efficient and useful legislator, who would be true to the interests of his constituents and the welfare of the Commonwealth.—Philadelphia Pennsylvanian.

J. S. AFRICA, ESQ.—We are gratified to learn that our friend, J. Simpson Africa, of Huntingdon, has received the Democratic nomination for Representative in the Legislature from that county. Mr. Africa is a young man of fine talents and unspotted integrity. His election would be hailed where ever he is known, as the triumph of an able and worthy man. The people of Huntingdon county, can do themselves no greater credit than to elect Mr. Africa to the Legislature, and we hope sincerely that they will do so.—Bedford Gazette.

J. SIMPSON AFRICA, ESQ.—We are pleased to see that the Democracy of Huntingdon county have nominated J. Simpson Africa, Esq., for Assembly. Mr. A. is a gentleman possessing qualifications well calculated to make him a good legislator, besides which he has the experience of several years in the capacity of Clerk of the Senate, to aid him. He can enter into the discharge of legislative duties with the confidence and familiarity of an old member.—Johnstown (Cambria co.) Echo.

J. SIMPSON AFRICA.—We are pleased to see the Democratic ticket in Huntingdon county headed by J. Simpson Africa. When a Transcribing Clerk in the Senate he made many warm personal and political friends.—In his manners he is one of the most affable and obliging men living. Such nominations reflect much credit upon the party making them.—Bloomfield (Perry co.) Democrat.

☞ The Democrats of Huntingdon county have nominated J. Simpson Africa, Esq., for the Legislature. It is to be regretted that our General Assembly cannot be filled with such men, for then the Legislative Borer would have no occupation—the interest of the people would be thoroughly protected, and ere long the good work of paying the State debt would be consummated. Mr. Africa has been a transcribing clerk in the Senate for two years past, and in that position proved himself a man of decided capacity and undoubted integrity. As a legislator he would show himself competent, honest, economical, and true as steel to the best interest of the masses of the people. We hope there is a good prospect of his election.—Lock Haven (Clinton co.) Democrat.

☞ We observe that the Democracy of Huntingdon, have nominated J. Simpson Africa, for Assembly. Our Democratic friends of that district have good reason to be proud of their condidate for this important position. To many of our readers Mr. Africa is personally known, and those who do know him, know that he is an honest, straight-forward man, and well qualified to discharge the duties of the office which his numerous friends are willing to bestow upon him.—Somerset Democrat.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MR. EDITOR:—I notice in the issue of the American of the 28th ult., that there is a communication from some booby, or conglomerated mass of "rot-gut," "minnie-rifle," "tanglefoot" and "strychnine" whiskey, combined with a blue streak of the thunder and lightning of animosity and envy, colored slightly, and intermixed frequently with a few flourishes of the green-eyed monster, jealousy. This is more evident than a desire for knowledge, or a benefit to suffering humanity, by the self-styled and liege Lord Quixote, "whether for notoriety or not," "ex homo." Now my noble and highly esteemed Quixote, if you refer to the Journal of the 14th ult., you can see just what I said, and I am able and willing, and will go the trouble of backing up the facts by chemical investigation, if that will appease the wrath of your enviousindignation. Oh, thou Quixote, "whether for notoriety or not," "ex homo." Now you desire to know how drugged whiskey acted on a tumour chemically; if you will take the trouble of calling at my office when you come to town, it will afford me great pleasure in giving you the Rationalæ. You will please remember that animal tissue is not rapidly dissolved by any of the alkaloids used for the purpose of drugging whiskey, nor did I say that any of these was the agent that acted so powerfully as an escarotic, "whether for notoriety or not "ex homo."—You refer to Dr. Carpenter; will you please discriminate between the action of any one of the mineral acids on living and dead tissue? you might have saved yourself the the trouble of referring to Carpenter. Who, in the profession, pretends to doubt, for a moment, that drugged whiskey or alcohol absolute, does produce irritation, then conjestion, and finally inflammation and ulceration, with a complete prostration of the nervous system, if the use of the "ardent" is persevered in, "whether for notoriety or not," "ex homo." Malignant Quxiote, your will; the nature of the tumour; you shall have it. It was of the consistence of cartilege, containing a dark semi-fluid liquid with narrow bands proceeding in irregular lines towards the circumference of the tumour, with bands of a fainter appearance passing transversely, &c. Now for the size; it was just about as large as your imagination was, when you had your coat of mail and pasteboard uniform on. That is as near as may be, noble Don.—"Time to dissolve a healthy man's system without a tumour, providing he was not stony?" Why, my lord! it only takes half the time that you required to put on your habiliments, when you were going forth to the relief of some poor female in distress, or adjust your pasteboard uniform to meet the enemy of windmills.

To close the matter, I would say, Quixote, you dipped five thousand feet down into the bowels of latin, and picked up the wrong case, like the submarine Puc did, when he got hold of a stick, and danced around in happy glee with the mermaids, thinking that he had a piece of the Atlantic cable. Or, if you are in the profession, "minnie-rifle" whiskey, as you term it, must enter largely into your practice, either by day or night, and if you are a layman, you must use it to a very great extent as a condiment, or a perfume. I would merely say, for your own benefit, if you would apply some ice to your head, and one of Doestick's plasters to your feet, and retire early, with the absence of the "ardent," and let your friends alone, I truly believe that you will be relieved of that meningeal conflagration. If this prescription does not give you rest and ease, I will be under the necessity of preparing a refrigerator for you. Farewell, Quixote, and be sure to take good care of the pasteboard.

Yours, until the next visit,

J. S. GRIFFITH.

CASSVILLE, Sept. 28, 1859.

MR. EDITOR:—For a few months past, the humble communications of C. C., have been kindly granted a place in your columns, and the type has generally been a faithful representation of the manuscript. In the course of that ever-varying process, called human life, a necessity has arisen for the cessation of the epistolary labors of the aforesaid scribbler. This necessity has grown out of the fact, that ere you read this sentence, he shall have vacated that renowned and venerable borough known to men of "ye olden time," as Chilcoat Town, but in later days yoleped Cassville, in honor of the second best hero of the Presidential contest in '48. Whether the mantle of C. C., will fall on any one of those who remain, must hereafter be determined. With this communication, I resign the title to any one who may want it.

The present term of the Seminary closes this week. On the evening of the 23d ult., the Principal gave his last lecture, to the normal class for the term. It was truly a professional lecture, one worthy a teacher of teachers. And now away we go; the teachers to their schools, and the rest to their homes. Few associations make impressions more enduring upon the heart than those of our school days; and as a consequence, there are few separations more gloomy than the parting of students. The daily intimacy of the study, the hall, the table, the class-room, the chapel and the grove; the interchange of thought and sentiment; the impress of mind on mind; all the mutual toils and pleasures of school-life, insensibly from attachments not easily broken. Often have I seen the pleasant anticipations of home-greetings yield to the consciousness of present bereavement, and tears of sorrow moistened the bright eyes and stain the smiling faces of exhibition day. And the student who turns away from the scene of so many joys, conscious that his school days are ended, that he must soon join the hurrying march of active life, and be urged on by the throng, beyond the loved scenes, and cherished friends whose kindly welcome shall greet him no more forever, feels a loneliness, a heart-sinking, not unmeet to be compared with that of him who hears the cold clods rattle over the senseless clay of his last earthly friend. Such is life. If we find a bower of delight, where we fain would fondly linger, times rapid wheels seem only to fly faster until we are borne from the grateful scene, and away, away we fly. Yet why should we sigh and weep? The strife will soon be over, and the joys and sorrows, the gladness and the heart-break of mortal existence, all alike slumber in the dust.—Happy then shall they be for whom religion has illumined the darkness of the passage, and to whom she reveals, beyond the stormy shore, a Heaven serene! But enough.

Being a student, about to leave Cassville Seminary, it is but just that I should testify to the excellence of the management of this institution under its present proprietor.—Prof. Walsh has fulfilled the promises of his catalogue, by furnishing par instruction at rates unusually low. It is my honest opinion, and I humbly think, my enlightened opinion, that this school is doing more for the common schools of the county, than any other schools anywhere. I am not alone in this judgment.

Melancholy Occurrence.

[From the Lewistown Democrat, Sept. 29.]

Our citizens were startled early on Saturday morning last by the announcement that James Platt, of Ennisville, Huntingdon county, a private in the "Jackson Artillery," was mortally wounded by a shot from a musket in the hands of Edward Mills, of Patterson, a private in the "Ringgold Infantry," at the Camp Ground, on the previous night between 9 and 10 o'clock. Mr. Mills was on duty as a Sentitel, and was strictly charged not to permit any person to pass the line without giving the countersign.—Mr. Platt approached the Camp, and was challenged by Mr. Mills with "Who goes there?" to which the former replied, "Hold on, stranger—I want to speak with you," and walked towards the latter. When within a few paces of him, Mills ordered him to stop, and was in the act of charging bayonet, when his foot struck a stone, the concussion of which discharged the musket, the contents entering the abdomen of Platt. The musket was loaded with an eight-penny nail, which entered the left epigastrium, pierced the stomach, passed on through the body, and made its exit about an inch from the vertebral column, inflicting a ghastly wound.—Mills immediately surrendered himself, and was placed under guard. On the following morning, after an investigation, he was released, all the facts elicited showing that the discharge of the gun was accidental. Drs. Worrall and Van Valsah were sent for without delay to dress the wounds of Mr. Platt, and were unremitting in their attentions to him, exerting all that medical and surgical skill could suggest, until Monday afternoon, when he expired.

Both Mr. Mills and Mr. Platt were esteemed in their respective homes as quiet, sober, respectable, inoffensive men—both are married men, the latter having a wife and three children—and both are members of the Methodist church, the former, it is said, a class leader. While the sympathy of the whole community is extended to the bereaved family of the deceased in their deep affliction, the sore distress and bitter agony experienced by Mr. Mills over the unfortunate occurrence, enlist for him the warmest feelings and commisseration.

Mr. Platt, upon his death bed, exonerated Mr. Mills from all blame.

The remains of Mr. Platt were taken to Milroy, in this county, where he formerly resided, for interment. His funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, from the Red Lion Hotel.

The Logan Guards, Irwin Guards, Ringgold Infantry, Jackson Artillery, Belleville Fencibles, and Kishacoquillas Cavalry, accompanied the remains, and he was buried with the honors of war.

P. S.—Since writing the above, Mr. Mills has been arrested by the civil authorities, but, upon a hearing before Judge Wilson, was permitted to enter into a recognizance for his appearance at November Court.

DOMESTIC TROUBLE.—Dr. Taney recently eloped with the wife of a Baptist deacon, in Knox county, Ohio. She left three children, one an infant. He left five. The day before they eloped, the Doctor took his wife and her infant on a visit to his brother's, told her not to come back until the next evening, and that he would take good care of the other children in her absence. When she came home he had been gone over fourteen hours, and the little ones were all in tears. The bereaved husband followed the Doctor and his wife to Huron co., where he found the woman prostrated with illness. Without a word of upbraiding he stayed and nursed her back to life, then he talked with her and the Doctor, and reasoned with them, and promised to forgive all, and hide the facts from the world. To his grief, however, he learned that his wife loved the Doctor. He therefore expressed his forgiveness to the recreant woman, and certified in writing that he gave her up on conditions that she would marry the object of her choice as soon as possible, and he would never molest them. He gave her $150, wished the blessings of God would rest upon her, and then he returned to his desolate hearth.

News recently reached Fort Riley by two soldiers who came in on express duty from Prairie Dog Creek, that two men who had started for Pike's Peak were lying in a starving condition at one of the distant, unoccupied stations of the late express company of Jones & Russell. The soldiers reported that if adequate means were sent to their relief it was still possible that they might be found alive, although they were in a delirious and feeble condition. First Lieutenant Charles Griffin and two others were immediately dispatched with what limited means the Quarter-master at the post could furnish. The philanthropic mission reached its destination on the third day. Both father and son were found even in a worse condition than represented. They had been at the station eight days before they were relieved by the small quantity of tea, bacon, and bread that the sergeant who first discovered them could spare, who gave strict injunctions to eat very sparingly, else death would ensue—they being so weak that they could scarcely stand up without holding on to the door.

It appears that they had lived on grasshoppers and mildewed corn, picked up from among the excrement left by animals which had fed at the station. Providentially a few young shoots of corn were found to be springing up about the station, and a dried skull of a buffalo had been thrown aside. They caught from twenty to thirty grasshoppers every morning while the dew was still on the grass, until they became too faint to procure this scanty supply of food, which they had to husband, in order to make a stew of grasshopper, buffalo hide, and young corn stalks, in a small tin cup, to eat at night, to promote sleep and prevent delirium.

Thus they sustained life until they obtained the cupful of tea, (about a quarter of a pound,) two loaves of bread, and a pound or two of bacon, left by the sergeant. When found by Mr. Griffin they were too debilitated to be immediately moved. He accordingly left private Machier to take care of them, and went on another day's ride to repair his wagon, which had broken at the camp at Prairie Dog Creek.

The father states that his name is Mr. W. Frost, that he is fifty years old, and that his son, Thomas Frost, who was with him, is seventeen years old, the eldest of six children—the five others being left behind at Pottsville, Pennsylvania. He is a shoemaker by trade. He started with $100, having left $60 with his wife; he paid his fair to Leavenworth city, from whence he started on foot.—Manhattan (Kansas) Express.

REV. PETER CARTWRIGHT.—This gentleman lectured in Harrisburg a short time ago. As his life is an eventful one, and some of the scenes quite interesting, we take occasion to publish the following interesting incident.—While there he created quite a sensation, and was admired for his frankness and open manners. The following will give a good idea of his character: "Shortly after the battle of New Orleans, a conference of Methodist preachers was being held in Nashville, Tennessee. My old friend," says the author, "Peter Cartwright, was appointed to preach in one of the Churches on Sunday evening; as he rose to announce his text, there was a stir in the crowded congregation, and he paused until the excitement should subside. The pastor of the church took advantage of the opportunity to pull the skirt of the preacher's coat, and admonish him in a whisper, 'brother Cartwright, you must be careful how you preach to-night, Gen. Jackson has just come in.' In a loud tone, Cartwright replied:—'What do you suppose I care for Gen. Jackson; if he don't repent of his sins, and believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, he will die and be damned like any other sinner,' and then proceeded with his sermon. The next morning early, as the preacher passed the General's quarters, in his morning's stroll, a servant ran after him with the message that General Jackson wished to speak with him. Turning, his hand was grasped by the hero of New Orleans, who shook it heartily, saying, 'sir, you are a man after my own heart; if I had a regiment of men as brave as you, and you for the chaplain, I'd agree to conquer any country on earth.' They afterwards became intimate friends, and many hours were spent by the fearless pioneer preacher under the hospitable roof of the General."

EVANS & WATSON

Have had the surest demonstration in the following certificate that their manufacture of Salamander Safes has at length fully warranted the representations which have been made of them as rendering an undoubted security against the terrific element:

Philadelphia, April 12th, 1856.

Messrs. EVANS & WATSON—Gentlemen—It affords us the highest satisfaction to state to you, that owing to the very protective qualities of two of the Salamander Safes which we purchased of you some few months since, we saved a large portion of our jewelry, and all our books, papers, &c., exposed to the calamitons fire in Ranstead Place, on the morning of the 11th instant.

When we reflect that these Safes were located in the fourth story of the building we occupied, and that they fell subsequently into a heap of burning ruins, where the vast concentration of heat caused the brass plates to melt, we cannot but regard the preservation of their valuable contents as most convincing proof of the great security afforded by your Safes.

We shall take much pleasure in recommending them to men of business as a sure reliance against fire.

MEDICAL SCIENCE.

The history of "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS," the most remarkable medicine of the day, and the many cures that have been performed with it in cases of LIVER COMPLAINT, DYSPEPSIA, NERVOUS DEBILITY, and diseases arising from a disordered liver or stomach, place it among the most astonishing discoveries that have taken place in the medical world. The diseases to which these Bitters are applicable are so universal, that there are but few of our friends who may not test their virtues in their own families or circle of acquaintances, and prove to their own satisfaction that there is at least one remedy among the many advertised medicines, deserving the public commendation. It is a fact that, in the minds of many persons, a prejudice exists against what are called Patent Medicines; but why should this prevent you resorting to an article that has such an array of testimony to support it as Hoofland's German Bitters? Physicians prescribe it, Why should you discard it? Judges, usually considered men of talent, have and do use it in their own families. Why should you reject it? Clergymen, and those the most eminent, take it; why should not you? Let not your prejudice usurp your reason, to the everlasting injury of your health; if you are sick, and require a medicine, try these Bitters.

These Bitters are prepared and sold by Dr. C. M. Jackson, No. 418 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., and by druggists and storekeepers in every town and village in the United States, Canadas, West Indies, and South America, at 75 cents per bottle. See that the signature of C. M. Jackson is on the wrapper of each bottle.

Huntingdon, Tuesday, October 4, 1859.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

☞ On Saturday evening last, some fellow, we did not learn his name, set up shop in the Diamond, on a dry goods box, and opened out a drug store, comprised of a few bottles of w-o-n-d-e-r-f-u-l stuff, for the cure of all the diseases the flesh is heir to, as well as a few balls of the best polish, for brightening silver-ware, tin-ware, and earthen ware, if you like, ever known in the wide, wide world.—He talked long, he hollowed, he yelled, and he expostulated with our citizens, but all to no purpose, they wouldn't bite. Finally, after letting off all the gas he contained, he retired in disgust, no doubt, at the ignorance of our citizens, for not procuring a bottle or two of his renowned medicine, or some of his celebrated polish.

ORDINATION.—The exercises connected with the ordination and installation of Rev. W. Kidder as pastor of the Baptist Congregation in this place, will, by Divine permission, take place in the Baptist Church, on Friday the 7th inst., commencing at 10 o'clock, A. M. The ordination sermon, it is expected, will be delivered by Rev. Geo. W. Young, pastor of the Logans Valley, Blair county, Baptist Church, and the pastoral charge by Rev. Ira R. Steward, of the Baptist Mariner's Church, New York, who, it is expected, will preach in the Baptist Church on Thursday evening previous to the services above named. The public generally are invited to attend.

By order and in behalf of the Church.

R. McDIVITT, Ch. Clerk.

NEW BRIDGE.—We notice that our borough fathers are having a new bridge erected across the tail race of Fisher & McMurtrie's mill, at the upper end of town. We are pleased to see this, for a new bridge was badly needed. It is being put up by our young friend Mr. John Black, who was awarded the contract, and is a good piece of mechanism, and reflects credit on the builder.

☞ Some outlawed rascals, in the absence of any other mischief to employ their idle hands with, are in the habit of extinguishing some of the street lamps in the back streets. Who ever they may be, we inform them that a strict watch is being kept, and, should they attempt the like again, they will, in all probability, be caught in the act.

THE HUNTINGDON BAND.—No part of the performances of Encampment week, afforded more satisfaction than the music of the Excelsior Band of Huntingdon. As musicians we believe they will compare favorably with any Band in the State, and as tip-top, clever fellows, they made hosts of warm friends while here.—Lewistown Democrat.

☞ Mr. James Maguire of this place, has entered into the wholesale grocery business in Philadelphia, at No. 121 North Water st. His many friends in this county, the merchants in particular, would do well to favor him with their orders. We hope Mack. may meet with abundant success in his new business.

ERRATA.—In the communication from St. Louis, published in our issue of the 14th ult., two errors occured. Where it says, "which will yield 90 tons of iron," it should read "90 per cent." Again, where it says "this company is shipping about 200 tons of ore to Wheeling and Pittsburgh, per month," it should read, "200 tons per week."

☞ Wm. P. Schell will offer for sale, on Friday next, all the furniture of the Coalmont Hotel. Persons in need of household articles will do well to attend the sale, as all the furniture is as good as new, and rare bargains will be offered. Read the advertisement.

☞ We will delay our paper one day next week, for the purpose of giving the election returns as full as possible, and we hope our friends in the several districts in the county will send in the returns.

☞ The Concert by Prof. Coyle and the Continentals, will come off this evening, in the Court House. We bespeak for them a crowded house. They will also give a concert to-morrow evening.

☞ We date the inside of our paper and send it out one day earlier than usual this week, to give the big devils and little devils all a chance to see the sights at the Fair.

☞ The little folks will find a handsome assortment of new books at Lewis'. Toy bibles, song and picture books by the thousand. Call and please your children.

☞ Mr. John White, jr., is opening a new store in Portstown at Harrison's old stand.—His goods will be new and selected with great care to please.

☞ G. Ashman Miller has received a new supply of Groceries, Confectionaries, &c., &c., which the public are invited to call and see.

☞ T. P. Love has received a new stock of Groceries and Confectionaries, which the public will do well to call and examine.

☞ Our Ex-Reporter will be on the Fair grounds, and will give a full report of the proceedings in our next.

☞ Our friend, Wm. A Saxton, has opened out a grocery store in Bricker's old stand. We wish him success.

NERVOUS DISEASES CONTROLLED AND CONQUERED.

Of all the various ills that detract from the enjoyment of human life, most of them may be traced to a disordered condition of the nervous system. The horrors of Epilepsy, or Falling Sickness, arise in most cases from this cause. Our readers may remember, on several occasions before, we have alluded to the wonderful cures, or modifications of Fits, made by the Vegetable Extract Epileptic Pills, invented and prepared by Dr. Seth S. Hance, of 108 Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md. We feel fully satisfied that these Pills have cured some of the most subborn cases of Epilepsy, as well as the milder forms of Fits, such as severe Cramps, Spasms, &c. We now record the fact, that persons will find these Pills equally efficacious in curing every form of nervous debility;—no matter whether manifested in the acute and excruciating form of Neuralgia, Tic-Doloreux, or Nervous Headache, the misery of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, the sufferings of Rheumatism or Gout, the melancholy hallucination of depressed spirits or hysteria, their effects will be equally happy and certain. Persons in the country can write to the inventor, and have the medicine forwarded to them by mail. The prices are, one box, $3; two boxes $5; twelve boxes $24; and sent to any part of the country, free of postage. Direct your communications to SETH S. HANCE, 108 Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md.

This unique and mammoth establishment combines a greater number of attractions than were ever before offered to the public. The PERFORMING ELEPHANTS, Antony and Cleopatra, are the same which, for months, created the greatest furore in London or Paris, while more recently their performances were the theme of universal admiration for months, at the Broadway Theatre, New York. Their wonderful docility, and the perfection of their training, make them the most interesting specimens of the animal creation that the world has ever seen. All their faculties have been developed to the greatest extent and they stand for SUI GENERIS, the most remarkable of their kind. They stand upon their heads, play upon Musical Instruments, ascend Inclined Planes, and go through all the positions of the most accomplished acrobats.

In addition, Bailey & Co.'s Circus and Menagerie comprises a collection of wild animals, including lions, tigers, bears, leopards, hyenas, panthers, Ostriches, etc., besides a large and varied collection of the monkey tribe, and a rare variety of the most beautiful tropical birds.

The troupe of riders, vaulters, lady equestriennes, etc., is the largest and most thoroughly artistic now traveling in the United States, and comprise the following distinguished names:

Mdme. LOUISE BUBOIS, from the Cirque Parisian.
M. SANDS, the great Principal Rider.
E. W. PERRY, the best Four Horse Rider in the World.
S. BURT, the Wonderful Protean Equestrian.
LA BELLA ISABELLA, the Sylph of the Circle.
J. COOKER, the great Buffo Singer.
G. SLOMAN & BEDEAU, the World-renowned Contortionist.
SIDE WADE, the Comic Negro Delineator.

The clowns, WARD & BOOKER, are the very embodiment of Fun and Jocularity. Their jokes are numerous, fresh, spicy, and piquant, full of hits at the times and follies of the day, yet entirely free from anything which the most delicately constituted mind could take the slightest exception to. Bailey & Co.'s Exhibition, therefore, comprises Elegant Horsemanship, a splendid Menagerie, Slack Rope Performance, new Singing, Comic and Classic Dancing, Wonderful Postering, Grand Spectacular Effects, Character Equestrianism, and a more novel and interesting programme than was ever before offered to the public.—Each entertainment will conclude with a COMIC AFTERPIECE, introducing all the comic talent in the company.

The American Brass Band, composed of picked musicians, accompanies the exhibition, and will precede the Grand Cavalcade on its entrance to each town, drawn by ELEPHANTS IN HARNESS, attached to the magnificent CHARIOT OF APOLLO.

The Pavillion is large and commodious, fitted up with due regard to the comfort and convenience of the visitors, and the Proprietors pledge themselves that nothing shall be found wanting to make this the most elegant, beautiful and satisfactory exhibition that ever visited this place.

The Grand Entree into the town will take place on Monday, the 10th of October, at 10 o'clock.

Admission, 25 cents.
Will exhibit at HUNTINGDON, Monday, October 10th.

GROVER & BAKER'S CELEBRATED FAMILY SEWING MACHINES.

New Styles—Prices from $50 to $125. Extra Charge of $5 for Hemmers.

495 Broadway, ... New York.
730 Chestnut street, ... Philadelphia.

These Machines sew from two spools, as purchased from the store, requiring no re-winding of thread; they Hem, Fell, Gather, and Stitch in a superior style, finishing each seam by their own operation, without recourse to the hand-needle, as is required by other machines. They will do better and cheaper sewing than a seamstress can, even if she works for one cent an hour, and are, unquestionably, the best Machines in the market for family sewing, on account of their simplicity, durability, ease of management, and adaptation to all varieties of family sewing—executing either heavy or fine work with equal facility, and without special adjustment.

As evidence of the unquestioned superiority of their Machines, the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company beg leave to respectfully refer to the the following

TESTIMONIALS.

"Having had one of Grover & Baker's Machines in my family for nearly a year and a-half, I take pleasure in commending it as every way reliable for the purpose for which it is designed—Family Sewing."—Mrs. Joshua Leavitt, wife of Rev. Dr. Leavitt, Editor of N. Y. Independent.

"I confess myself delighted with your Sewing Machine, which has been in my family for many months. It has always been ready for duty, requiring no adjustment, and is easily adapted to every variety of family sewing, by simply changing the spools of thread."—Mrs. Elizabeth Strickland, wife of Rev. Dr. Strickland, Editor of N. Y. Christian Advocate.

"After trying several different good machines, I preferred yours, on account of its simplicity, and the perfect ease with which it is managed, as well as the strength and durability of the seam. After long experience, I feel competent to speak in this manner, and to confidently recommend it for every variety of family sewing."—Mrs. E. B. Spooner, wife of the Editor of Brooklyn Star.

"I have used a Grover & Baker Sewing Machine for two years, and have found it adapted to all kinds of family sewing, from Cambric to Broadcloth. Garments have been worn out without the giving way of a stitch. The Machine is easily kept in order, and easily used."—Mrs. A. B. Whipple, wife of Rev. Geo. Whipple, New York.

"Your Sewing Machine has been in use in my family the past two years, and the ladies request me to give you their testimonials to its perfect adaptedness, as well as labor-saving qualities in the performance of family and household sewing."—Robert Boorman, New York.

"For several months we have used Grover & Baker's Sewing Machine, and have come to the conclusion that every lady who desires her sewing beautifully and quickly done, would be most fortunate in possessing one of these reliable and indefatigable 'iron needle-women,' whose combined qualities of beauty, strength and simplicity, are invaluable."—J. W. Morris, daughter of Gen. Geo. P. Morris, Editor of the Home Journal.

Extract of a letter from Thos. R. Leavitt, Esq., an American gentleman, now resident in Sydney, New South Wales, dated January 12, 1858:

"I had a tent made in Melbourne, in 1853, in which there were over three thousand yards of sewing done with one of Grover & Baker's Machines, and a single seam of that has outstood all the double seams sewed by sailors with a needle and twine."

"If Homer could be called up from his murky hades, he would sing the advent of Grover & Baker as a more benignant miracle of art than was ever Vulcan's smithy. He would denounce midnight shirt-making as 'the direful spring of woes unnumbered.'"—Prof. North.

"I take pleasure in saying, that the Grover & Baker Sewing Machines have more than sustained my expectation. After trying and returning others, I have three of them in operation in my different places, and, after four years' trial, have no fault to find."—J. H. Hammond, Senator of South Carolina.

"My wife has had one of Grover & Baker's Family Sewing Machines for some time, and I am satisfied it is one of the best labor-saving machines that has been invented. I take much pleasure in recommending it to the public."—J. G. Harris, Governor of Tennessee.

"It is a beautiful thing, and puts everybody into an excitement of good humor. Were I a Catholic, I should insist upon Saints Grover and Baker having an eternal holiday in commemoration of their good deeds for humanity."—Cassius M. Clay.

"I think it by far the best patent in use. This Machine can be adapted from the finest cambric to the heaviest cassimere. It sews stronger, faster, and more beautifully than one can imagine. If mine could not be replaced, money could not buy it."—Mrs. J. G. Brown, Nashville, Tenn.

"It is speedy, very neat, and durable in its work; is easily understood and kept in repair. I earnestly recommend this Machine to all my acquaintances and others."—Mrs. M. A. Forrest, Memphis, Tenn.

"We find this Machine to work to our satisfaction, and with pleasure recommend it to the public, as we believe the Grover & Baker to be the best Sewing Machine in use."—Deary Brothers, Allisonia, Tenn.

"If used exclusively for family purposes, with ordinary care, I will wager they will last one 'three score years and ten,' and never get out of fix."—John Erskine, Nashville, Tenn.

"I have had your Machine for several weeks, and am perfectly satisfied that the work it does is the best and most beautiful that ever was made."—Maggie Aimison, Nashville, Tenn.

"I use my Machine upon coats, dressmaking, and fine linen stitching, and the work is admirable—far better than the best hand-sewing, or any other machine I have ever seen."—Lucy B. Thompson, Nashville, Tenn.

"I find the work the strongest and most beautiful I have ever seen, made either by hand or machine, and regard the Grover & Baker Machine as one of the greatest blessings to our sex."—Mrs. Taylor, Nashville, Tenn.

"I have one of Grover & Baker's Sewing Machines in use in my family, and find it invaluable. I can confidently recommend it to all persons in want of a machine."—G. T. Thompson, Nashville, Tenn.

"I take pleasure in certifying to the utility of the Grover & Baker Sewing Machines. I have used one on almost every description of work for months, and find it much stronger and better in every respect than work done by hand."—Mrs. D. W. Wheeler, Nashville, Tenn.

"I would be unwilling to dispose of my Grover & Baker Machine for a large amount, could I not replace it again at pleasure."—Mrs. H. G. Scovel, Nashville, Tenn.

"Our two machines, purchased from you, do the work of twenty young ladies. We with pleasure recommend the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine to be the best in use."—N. Stillman & Co., Memphis, Tenn.

"The Grover & Baker Sewing Machine works admirably. I think the stitch and work far superior to that of any Sewing Machine I ever saw. On fine work, I think the Machine would be hard to beat."—J. W. Davie, Memphis, Tenn.

"I find the Machine easily managed, very durable, and take pleasure in recommending it to all who wish convenience, economy, and pleasure."—Mrs. F. Titus, Memphis, Tenn.

"The Grover & Baker Sewing Machines have given such satisfaction that we cheerfully recommend them to all who wish a good and substantial Sewing Machine. It executes work with much care and speed, and more finely than any other machine I have seen."—Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, Memphis, Tenn.

"I am happy to give my testimony in favor of Grover & Baker's Sewing Machine, and of the perfect satisfaction it gives in every respect. It sews neatly, and is by no means complicated, and I prefer it to all others I have seen."—Mrs. Bryan, wife of Rev. A. M. Bryan, Memphis, Tenn.

"It affords me much pleasure to say, that the Machine works well; and I do not hesitate to recommend it as possessing all the advantages you claim for it. My wife is very much pleased with it, and we take pleasure in certifying to this effect."—R. C. Brinkley, Memphis, Tenn.

"It gives me pleasure to find the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine giving so much satisfaction. I have it in constant use, and find it all that could be desired. It is the most simple and durable machine in use, and I heartily recommend it."—F. M. White, Memphis, Tenn.

"Having seen, examined, and used many other kinds of Sewing Machines, I feel free to say, that the Grover & Baker Machines are far superior to all others in use."—M. Francios Setlz, Nashville, Tenn.

"I consider my Sewing Machine invaluable, and would not take five times its cost, if I could not supply its place. With it I can do all my family sewing in about one-fourth the time I could with my hands."—M. J. Scott, Nashville, Tenn.
